

About Dr. Dan Junker

Dr. Dan Junker is widely recognized as an authority on naturopathic treatments and is on the cutting edge of new therapy development. He hosted the popular talk radio program, Healthquest (American Freedom Network), during the 1980s and 1990s, and is a frequent speaker at health conferences nationally. He is also a frequent spokesperson at national preparation expositions and was a widely-known speaker with Global Science, having sold more of his own products than any other speaker ever.

Dr. Dan, as his patients know him, holds a Ph.D. in Naturopathy and has worked as a consultant to hospitals all over the country. He owns his own vitamin and herbal manufacturing facility, and is the Director of the Anti-Aging Center. Dr. Dan has traveled extensively throughout North, South, and Central America in his quest to find natural treatment modalities for common and rare imbalances in the body that cause disease. He is also renown in the field of energy medicine, having developed EM therapies for both humans and animals.

He is the author of the book Lignans, and is currently working on two additional books, The Underground Doctor and Doing the Right Thing the Right Way.
